ATHENS MEDICAL GROUP

Athens Medical Group was founded in 1984, with the sole aim to provide comprehensive high quality healthcare services.

Since its first years of operation, the Group played a key role in the development of the Healthcare sector. It was the first that introduced state-of-the-art medical equipment and secured collaborations with top notch scientists, offering services similar to those of the top internationally accredited hospitals.

With continuous investments at all levels, both in Greece and abroad, the Group's clinics have been established as the most advanced ones in Greece. Athens Medical Group is currently the most dynamic Healthcare Organization and the most reliable provider of diagnostic and healthcare services in southeastern Europe, equivalent to those of western Europe and the US.

In Greece, Athens Medical Group runs 8 ultramodern healthcare units with a total capacity of 1.200 hospital beds, a network comprised of 2.800 eminent doctors and 3.000 full-time employees. Seven of these units are located in the greater area of Athens, Athens Medical Center, Paediatrics Clinic, GAIA Obstetrics and Gynecology Clinic, as well as the Clinics of Psychiko, Paleo Faliro, Peristeri and Dafne. The eighth hospital is European Interbalkan Medical Center, which is located in northern Greece and is considered, according to the Medical School of the UK's Imperial College, "the best ultramodern hospital in Europe".

Moreover, on a primary healthcare level, the Group collaborates with a panhellenic network of 40 diagnostic centers, aiming to provide vertically integrated healthcare services throughout Greece.

The Group has spread its activities in Romania with its 100% subsidiary company MEDSANA, which owns three medical centers (two in Bucharest and one in Ploesti), while, within the framework of its continuous development, is always in search of new international partnerships.
